

Tour of Tuscany (Day 2)

Road

Distance : 137 km Elevation : 3880 m Difficulty : 4

Start point : Pievepelago End point : Firenzuola

From Pievepelago to Firenzuola, the road goes up and down without interruption. And that's an understatement. A day at almost 4000m of elevation gain, without passing a single pass, is already a considerable achievement. Fortunately, the terraces open their arms to the arrival of the cyclists, which is not to be refused. Cheers !

Published Sunday May 20th 2018, 18:25
Modified Sunday May 20th 2018, 18:59

By Olivier Paudex

Start from Pievepelago

This course is mountainous, to say one thing. 137km long, the bumps follow one another at a frantic pace. At the end of the day, the impression of having climbed a pass is not usurped, so difficult is the course.

Military monument at the exit of Pievepelago

Firenzuola

Firenzuola is a very small town, located 40km from Florence. It does not lack charm. Its central square and narrow streets have kept their medieval character. There are plenty of stores under the arcades, as well as restaurants and bars, most of which have terraces.

Street and central square of Firenzuola